PART I: Introduction to this Policy

This Binding Corporate Rules: Controller Policy ("Policy") establishes Zendesk's approach to compliance with European data protection law and specifically to transfers of personal information between Zendesk group members ("Group Members") (a list of which is available at Appendix 1) when processing that information for their own purposes.

This Policy applies to all personal information processed by Zendesk as a controller whenever it is collected and used by Zendesk Group Members for their own business activities, employment administration and vendor management. As such, the personal information to which this Policy applies includes:

- CRM data about Zendesk's customers,
- human resources data about Zendesk staff members, and
- vendor data about Zendesk's suppliers and service providers.

Group Members and their employees (including new hires and individual contractors) must comply with, and respect, this Policy when processing personal information for their own purposes.

This Policy does not apply to personal information that Zendesk processes in the course of providing services to a third party controller, which instead must be protected in accordance with the Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy. In particular, the content of Zendesk customers' support tickets must be processed in accordance with the Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy.

This Policy does not replace any specific data protection requirements that might apply to a business area or function.

This Policy will be published on the website accessible at www.zendesk.com
BACKGROUND & ACTIONS

What is Data Protection Law?

Data protection law gives people certain rights in connection with the way in which their personal information is used. If organizations do not comply with data protection law, they may be subject to sanctions and penalties imposed by the national data protection authorities and courts. When Zendesk collects and uses personal information, this activity and the personal information in question is covered and regulated by data protection law.

When an organization collects, uses or transfers personal information for its own purposes, that organization is deemed to be a "controller" of that information and is therefore primarily responsible for meeting the legal requirements under data protection law.

On the other hand, when an organization processes information on behalf of a third party (for example, content data processed by Zendesk on behalf of its customers), that organization is deemed to be a "processor" of the information. In this case, the relevant controller of the personal information (i.e., the relevant third party) will be primarily responsible for meeting the legal requirements.

This Policy describes how Zendesk will comply with data protection law in respect of processing it performs as a controller. Zendesk's Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy describes the standards Zendesk applies when Zendesk collects, uses or transfers personal information as a processor.

How does data protection law affect companies internationally?

European data protection law prohibits the transfer of personal information to countries outside Europe that do not ensure an adequate level of data protection. Some of the countries in which Zendesk operates are not regarded by European data protection authorities as providing an adequate level of protection for individuals’ data privacy rights.

What is Zendesk doing about it?
Zendesk must take proper steps to ensure that it uses personal information on an international basis in a safe and lawful manner. This Policy therefore sets out a framework to satisfy data protection law requirements and, in particular, to provide an adequate level of protection for all personal information used and collected in Europe and transferred from Group Members within Europe to Group Members outside Europe.

Zendesk will apply this Policy in all cases where it processes personal information as a controller, both manually and by automatic means. This Policy applies to all Group Members and their employees worldwide (including new hires and individual contractors), and they must comply with, and respect, this Policy when collecting and using personal information. All Group Members who collect, use or transfer personal information as a controller comply with the Rules set out in Part II - IV of this Policy together with the policies and procedures set out in the appendices in Part V of this Policy.

Some Group Members may act as both a controller and a processor and must therefore comply with this Policy and also the Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy as appropriate.

CONFIDENTIAL

If you are unhappy about the way in which Zendesk has used your personal information, Zendesk has a separate complaint handling procedure which is set out in Part V, Appendix 6.
Part II: Controller obligations

This Policy applies in all situations where a Group Member collects, uses and transfers personal information as a controller. All employees and Group Members must comply with the following obligations:

RULE 1 – COMPLIANCE WITH LOCAL LAW

Rule 1 – Zendesk will always comply with local data protection law where it exists.

As an organization, Zendesk will comply with any applicable data protection legislation for the protection of personal information (e.g. Europe’s General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679, when applicable). Zendesk will ensure that all personal information is collected and used in accordance with applicable local data protection law.

Where there is no law, or where the law does not meet the standards set out by the Policy, Zendesk will process personal information in accordance with the Rules in this Policy.

RULE 2 – TRANSPARENCY AND PURPOSE LIMITATION

Rule 2A – Zendesk will explain to individuals, at the time their personal information is collected, how that information will be used.

Zendesk will ensure that individuals are told in a concise, transparent, intelligible and easily accessible form, using clear and plain language, how their personal information will be used (usually by means of an easily accessible fair processing statement). The information Zendesk has to provide to individuals includes all information necessary in the circumstances to ensure that the processing of personal information is fair, including the Fair Information Disclosures at Appendix 9.

This information will be provided when personal information is obtained by Zendesk from the individual or, if not practicable to do so at the point of collection, as soon as possible after collection. In limited cases, Zendesk may not need to provide the Fair Information Disclosures (for example, because the individual already has the information, the provision of the Fair Information Disclosures may prove impossible or involve a disproportionate effort, or where otherwise permitted by law). Where this is the case, Zendesk shall decide what course of action is appropriate to protect the individual's rights, freedoms and legitimate interests.

Where Zendesk collects personal information for the purposes described in the introduction to this Policy, Zendesk will be the controller of that information. In all other cases, Zendesk will be a processor of personal information disclosed to it by customers. Where Zendesk is the processor, it will comply with the requirements of the Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy.

Zendesk will follow this Rule 2A unless there is a legitimate basis for not doing so (for example, where it is necessary to safeguard national security or defence, for the prevention or detection of crime, legal proceedings, or where otherwise permitted by law).

Rule 2B – Zendesk will only Rule 1 provides that Zendesk will comply with any applicable obtain and use personal information for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes data protection legislation for the protection of personal information. This means that where Zendesk collects personal information in Europe and local law requires that Zendesk may only collect and use it for specific, explicit and legitimate purposes, and not use that personal information in a way that is incompatible for those purposes, Zendesk will honour these obligations.

Under Rule 2B, Zendesk will identify and make known the purposes for which personal information will be used (including the secondary uses and disclosures of the information) when such information is obtained or, if not practicable to do so at the point of collection, as soon as possible after that, unless there is a legitimate basis for not doing so as described in Rule 2A.

Rule 2C – Zendesk may only process personal information collected in Europe for a different or new purpose that is incompatible with the purposes stated at Rule 2B if Zendesk has a lawful basis for doing so or has obtained the individual's consent.

If Zendesk collects personal information for a specific purpose in accordance with Rule 2B (as communicated to the individual via the relevant fair processing statement) and subsequently Zendesk wishes to use the information for a different or new purpose which is incompatible with the original purpose, Zendesk must ordinarily obtain the individual's consent unless it has an alternative lawful basis for the new use that is consistent with applicable data protection law.

Zendesk must also provide the individual with transparent information about the different or new purpose consistent with the requirements of Rule 2A.

RULE 3 – ENSURING DATA QUALITY
Rule 3A – Zendesk will keep personal information accurate and up to date.

In order to ensure that the personal information held by Zendesk is accurate and up to date, Zendesk actively encourages individuals to inform Zendesk when their personal information has changed or has otherwise become inaccurate.

Zendesk will take every reasonable step to ensure that personal information that is inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which they are processed, are erased or rectified without delay.

Rule 3B – Zendesk will only keep personal information for as long as is necessary for the purposes for which it is collected and further processed.

Zendesk will not keep personal information in a form which permits identification of individuals for longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the information is processed.

Zendesk will comply with the Zendesk's record retention policies and guidelines as revised and updated from time to time.

Rule 3C – Zendesk will only keep personal information which is adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which it is processed.

Zendesk will identify the minimum amount of personal information necessary in order to properly fulfil its purposes.

RULE 4 – TAKING APPROPRIATE SECURITY MEASURES
Rule 4A – Zendesk will adhere to its security policies.

Zendesk will implement appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect personal information against accidental or unlawful destruction or accidental loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure or access, in particular where processing involves transmission of personal information over a network, and against all other lawful forms of processing. Such measures will ensure a level of security appropriate to the risk.

To this end, Zendesk will comply with the requirements in the security policies in place within Zendesk, as revised and updated from time to time, together with any other security procedures relevant to a business area or function. Zendesk will implement and comply with breach notification policies as required by applicable data protection law.

Zendesk will ensure that any staff member who has access to or is involved in the processing of personal information does so only on instructions from the relevant Group Member and under a duty of confidence.

Rule 4B – Zendesk will ensure that providers of services to Zendesk also adopt appropriate and equivalent security measures.

Where a Group Member appoints a service provider to process personal information on its behalf, Zendesk must impose strict contractual terms, in writing, on the service provider that require it:

- to act only on Zendesk's instructions when processing that information, including with regard to international transfers of the information;
- to ensure that any individuals who have access to the data are subject to a duty of confidence;
• to have in place appropriate technical and organizational security measures to safeguard the personal information;

• only to engage a sub-processor if Zendesk has given its prior specific or general written authorization, and on condition the sub-processor agreement protects the personal information to substantially the same standard required of the service provider;

• to assist Zendesk in ensuring compliance with its obligations as a controller under applicable data protection laws, in particular with respect to reporting data security incidents and responding to requests from individuals to exercise their data protection rights;

• to return or delete the personal information once it has completed its services; and

• to make available to Zendesk all information it may need in order to ensure its compliance with these obligations.

RULE 5 – HONOURING INDIVIDUALS’ RIGHTS

Rule 5 – Zendesk will adhere to the Data Subject Rights Procedure and will respond to any queries or requests made by individuals in connection with their personal information in accordance with applicable Various data protection laws around the world, including European Union laws, provide individuals with certain data protection rights. These may include:

• The right of access: This is a right for an individual to obtain confirmation whether Zendesk processes personal information about them and, if so, to be provided details of that personal information and access to it;

- The right to rectification: This is a right for an individual to obtain rectification without undue delay of inaccurate personal information Zendesk may process about them;

- The right to erasure: This is a right for an individual to require Zendesk to erase personal information about them on certain grounds – for example, where the personal information is no longer necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it was collected;

- The right to restriction: This is a right for an individual to require Zendesk to restrict processing of personal information about them on certain grounds;

- The right to data portability: This is a right for an individual to receive personal information concerning them from Zendesk in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and to transmit that information to another controller, if certain grounds apply;

- The right to object: This is a right for an individual to object, on grounds relating to their particular situation, to processing of personal information about them, if certain grounds apply.

Where an individual wishes to exercise any of its data protection rights, Zendesk will respect those rights in accordance with applicable law and follow the steps set out in the Data Subject Rights Procedure (see Appendix 2) when dealing with such requests.

RULE 6 – ENSURING ADEQUATE PROTECTION FOR TRANSBORDER TRANSFERS

Rule 6 – Zendesk must not transfer personal information to third parties outside the European Economic Area without ensuring appropriate safeguards for the information in accordance with the standards set out by this Policy. In principle, transborder transfers of personal information to third parties outside the Zendesk entities are not allowed without appropriate safeguards being taken, such as signing up to contractual clauses, which will protect the personal information being transferred.

RULE 7 – SAFEGUARDING THE USE OF SENSITIVE PERSONAL INFORMATION

Rule 7 – Zendesk will only use sensitive personal information collected in Europe where the individual’s explicit consent has been obtained, unless Zendesk has an alternative legitimate basis for doing so consistent with applicable data protection law. Zendesk will assess whether sensitive personal information is required for the proposed use. Sensitive personal information is information relating to an individual’s racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic data, biometric data for the purposes of uniquely identifying the individual, health data, data concerning sex life or sexual orientation, and criminal convictions and offenses. In principle, Zendesk must obtain individuals’ explicit consent to collect and use their sensitive personal information, unless Zendesk is otherwise required to do so by local law or has another legitimate basis for doing so consistent with the applicable law of the European country in which the personal information was collected. This permission to use sensitive personal information by Zendesk must be an explicit, freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous indication of the individual's wishes.

RULE 8 – LEGITIMISING DIRECT MARKETING

Rule 8 – Zendesk will allow customers to opt-out of receiving marketing information. All individuals have the data protection right to object, free of charge, to the use of their personal information for direct marketing purposes and Zendesk will honour all such opt-out requests.

RULE 9 – AUTOMATED INDIVIDUAL DECISIONS

Rule 9 – Zendesk will respect individuals' rights not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing, including profiling, that produces legal effects or similarly significantly affects them. Under European data protection law, no decision, which produces legal effects concerning an individual, or similarly significantly affects that individual, can be based solely on the automated processing of that individual's personal information, including profiling, unless such decision is:

- necessary for entering into, or performing, a contract between a Group Member and that individual;

- authorized by applicable law (which in the case of personal information about EU individuals, must be EU or Member State law); or

- based on the individual's explicit consent.

In the first and third cases above, Zendesk will implement suitable measures to protect the individual's rights and freedoms and legitimate interests, including the right to obtain human intervention, to express his or her view and to contest the decision.
Zendesk will not make automated individual decisions about individuals using their sensitive personal information unless they have given explicit consent under Rule 7 or another lawful basis applies.

RULE 10 – DATA PROTECTION IMPACT ASSESSMENTS AND PRIVACY BY DESIGN AND DEFAULT

Rule 10A – Zendesk will carry out data protection impact assessments where processing is likely to result in a high risk to rights and freedoms of individuals and consult, where required by law, with data protection authorities.

Where required by applicable data protection laws, Zendesk will carry out data protection impact assessments (DPIAs) whenever the processing of personal information, particularly using new technologies, is likely to result in a high risk to the rights and freedoms of individuals. Zendesk will carry out a DPIA prior to processing which will contain at least the following:

- A systematic description of the envisaged processing operations and the purposes of the processing;
- An assessment of the necessity and proportionality of the processing operations in relation to the purposes;
- An assessment of the risks to the privacy rights of individuals;
- The measures envisaged to address the risks, including safeguards, security measures and mechanisms to ensure the protection of personal information and demonstrate compliance with applicable data protection laws.
Where the DPIA indicates that the processing would still result in a high risk to individuals, Zendesk will consult with local data protection authorities where required by applicable data protection laws.

Rule 10B – Zendesk will apply data protection by design and by default when designing and implementing new products and systems. When designing and implementing new products and systems which process personal information, Zendesk will apply data protection by design and by default, where required by applicable data protection laws. This means implementing appropriate technical and organizational measures that:

- Are designed to implement the data protection principles in an effective manner and to integrate the necessary safeguards in order to protect the rights of individuals and meet the requirements of applicable data protection laws; and

- Ensure that, by default, only personal information which are necessary for each specific processing purpose are collected, stored, processed and are accessible; in particular, that by default personal information is not made accessible to an indefinite number of people without the individual’s intervention.
Part III: Delivering compliance in practice

To ensure Zendesk follows the rules set out in this Policy, in particular the obligations set out in Part II, Zendesk and all of its Group Members must also comply with the following practical commitments:

1. COMPLIANCE

Zendesk will have appropriate staff and support to ensure and oversee privacy compliance throughout the business.

Zendesk has appointed its Chief Privacy Officer to oversee and ensure compliance with this Policy. A summary of the roles and responsibilities of Zendesk's privacy team is set out in Appendix 3.

8. CONFLICTS BETWEEN THIS POLICY AND NATIONAL LEGISLATION
Zendesk will ensure that where the legislation applicable to it prevents it from fulfilling its obligations under the Policy or such legislation has a substantial effect on its ability to comply with the Policy, Zendesk will promptly inform the Chief Privacy Officer unless otherwise prohibited by a law enforcement authority.

Zendesk will ensure that where there is a conflict between the legislation applicable to it and this Policy, the Chief Privacy Officer will make a responsible decision on the action to take and will consult the data protection authority with competent jurisdiction in case of doubt.

9. GOVERNMENT REQUESTS FOR DISCLOSURE OF PERSONAL INFORMATION:
If Zendesk receives a legally binding request for disclosure of personal information which is subject to this Policy, Zendesk will put the request on hold and notify the lead data protection authority and any other competent data protection authority, unless legally prohibited from doing so.
or where there is an imminent risk of serious harm.

If Zendesk is legally prohibited from putting the request on hold, it will inform the requesting authority about its obligations under European data protection law and ask the authority to waive this prohibition. Where such prohibition cannot be waived, Zendesk will provide the competent data protection authorities with an annual report providing general information about any such requests for disclosure it may have received, to the extent legally permitted to do so.
PART IV: THIRD PARTY BENEFICIARY RIGHTS

Application of this Part IV

This Part IV applies where individuals’ personal information are protected under European data protection laws (including the General Data Protection Regulation). This is the case when:

- those individuals’ personal information are processed in the context of the activities of a Group Member (or its third party processor) established in Europe;

- a non-European Group Member (or its third-party processor) offers goods and services (including free goods and services) to those individuals in Europe; or

- a non-European Group Member (or its third-party processor) monitors the behaviour of those individuals, as far as their behaviour takes place in Europe; and that Group Member then transfers those individuals’ personal information to a non-European Group Member for processing under this Policy.

Entitlement to effective remedies

When this Part IV applies, individuals have the right to pursue effective remedies in the event their personal information is processed by Zendesk in breach of the following provisions of this Policy:

- Parts II (Our Obligations) of this Controller Policy;

- Paragraphs 5 (Complaints Handling), 6 (Cooperation with Data Protection Authorities), 8 (Conflicts between this Policy and national legislation) and 9 (Government requests for disclosure of personal information) under Part III of this Controller Policy; and

- Part IV (Third Party Beneficiary Rights) of this Controller Policy.
Individuals’ third party beneficiary rights

When this Part IV applies, individuals may exercise the following rights:

- Complaints: Individuals may complain to a Group Member and/or to a European data protection authority (with a choice before the data protection authority in the Member State of the data subject's habitual residence, place of work or place of the alleged infringement), in accordance with the Complaints Handling Procedure at Appendix 6;

- Proceedings: Individuals may commence proceedings against a Group Member for violations of this Controller Policy, in accordance with the Complaints Handling Procedure at Appendix 6;

- Compensation: Individuals who have suffered material or non-material damage as a result of an infringement of this Controller Policy have the right to receive compensation from Zendesk for the damage suffered.

- Transparency: Individuals also have the right to obtain a copy of the Controller Policy on request to the Chief Privacy Officer at privacy@zendesk.com.

Responsibility for breaches by non-European Group Members

Zendesk International Ltd will be responsible for ensuring that any action necessary is taken to remedy any breach of this Policy by a non-European Group Member.

In particular:

- if an individual can demonstrate damage it has suffered likely occurred because of a breach of this Policy by a non-European Group Member, Zendesk International Ltd will have the burden of proof to show that the non-European Group Member is not responsible for the breach, or that no such breach took place.

- where a non-European Group Member fails to comply with this Policy, individuals may exercise their rights and remedies above against Zendesk International Ltd and, where appropriate, receive compensation (as determined by a competent court or other competent authority) from Zendesk International Ltd for any material or non-material damage suffered as a result of a breach of this Policy;

Shared liability for breaches with processors

Where Zendesk has engaged a third-party processor to conduct processing on its behalf, and both are responsible for harm caused to an individual by processing in breach of this Controller Policy, Zendesk accepts that both Zendesk and the processor may be held liable for the entire damage in order to ensure effective compensation of the individual.

Binding Corporate Rules:
Data Subject Rights Procedure
Binding Corporate Rules: Data Subject Rights Procedure

1. Introduction

1.1 When Zendesk collects, uses or transfers personal information for Zendesk’s own purposes, Zendesk is deemed to be a controller of that information and is therefore primarily responsible for meeting the requirements of data protection law.

1.2 When Zendesk acts as a controller, individuals whose personal information is collected and/or used in Europe\(^1\) (even if subsequently transferred to other Group Members) are entitled to certain data protection rights which they may exercise by making a request to Zendesk.

1.3 In addition, all individuals whose personal information is collected and/or used in Europe by Zendesk acting as controller, and transferred between Zendesk group members (“Group Members”) under the Binding Corporate Rules: Controller Policy, will also benefit from these rights. Such requests will be dealt with in accordance with the terms of this Binding Corporate Rules: Data Subject Rights Request Procedure (“Procedure”).

1.4 This Procedure explains how Zendesk deals with a data subject rights request relating to personal information which falls into the categories in sections 1.2 and 1.3 above (referred to as “valid request” in this Procedure).

1.5 Where a data subject rights request is subject to European data protection law because it is made in respect of personal information collected and/or used in Europe, such a request will be dealt with by Zendesk in accordance with this Procedure, but where the applicable European data protection law requires a higher level of protection for personal data than this Procedure, the local data protection law will prevail.

2. Individuals’ rights

2.1 Zendesk must assist individuals to exercise the following data protection rights, consistent with the requirements of applicable data protection laws:

(a) The right to access: This is a right for an individual to obtain confirmation whether a controller processes personal information about them and, if so, to be provided with details of that personal information and access to it. The process for handling this type of request is described further in paragraphs 4-6 below;

(b) The right to rectification: This is a right for an individual to obtain rectification without undue delay of inaccurate personal information a controller may process about them. The process for handling this type of request is described further in paragraph 7 below;

(c) The right to erasure: This is a right for an individual to require a controller to erase personal information about them on certain grounds – for example, where the personal information is no longer necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it was collected. The process for handling this type of request is described further in paragraph 7 below.

(d) The right to restriction: This is a right for an individual to require a controller to restrict processing of personal information about them on certain grounds. The process for handling this type of request is described further in paragraph 7 below.

(e) The right to object: This is a right for an individual to object, on ground relating to his or her particular situation, to a controller's processing of personal information about them, if certain grounds apply. The process for handling this type of request is described further in paragraph 7 below.

(f) The right to data portability: This is a right for an individual to receive personal information concerning them from a controller in a structured, commonly used and machine readable format and to transmit that information to another controller, if certain grounds apply. The process for handling this type of request is described further in paragraph 8 below.

2.2 The request must generally be made in writing\(^2\), which can include email.

2.3 Zendesk must respond to a valid request without undue delay and in any case, within one (1) month (or any shorter period as may be stipulated under local law) of receipt of that request. That period may be extended by a further two (2) months where necessary, taking into account the complexity and number of requests. Zendesk will inform the individual of any such extension within one (1) month of receipt of the request, together with reasons for the delay.

2.4 Zendesk is not obliged to comply with a data subject rights request unless Zendesk is supplied with such information which it may reasonably require in order to confirm the identity of the individual making the request. To assist it in fulfilling the data subject rights request in an efficient and timely manner, it may also communicate with the individual with a view to gathering information that will help it to locate the information which that person seeks.

3. Process

Receipt of a data subject rights request when Zendesk is a controller of the personal information requested.

3.1 If Zendesk receives any data subject rights request from an individual regarding their personal information, this must be passed to the Zendesk Privacy Council at zendesk@privacy.com immediately upon receipt indicating the date on which it was received together with any other information which may assist the Zendesk Privacy Council to deal with the request.

3.2 The request does not have to be official or mention data protection law to qualify as a data subject rights request.

\(^2\) Unless the local data protection law provides that an oral request may be made, in which case Zendesk will document the request and provide a copy to the individual making the request before dealing with it.
Initial steps

3.3 The Zendesk Privacy Council will make an initial assessment of the request to decide whether it is a valid request and whether confirmation of identity, or any further information, is required. It will also engage Zendesk Personnel for support with handling the request, as required or appropriate.

3.4 The Zendesk Privacy Council will then contact the individual in writing to confirm receipt of the request, seek confirmation of identity or further information, if required, or decline the request if one of the exemptions applies (for example, because Zendesk can demonstrate that the individual has made a manifestly unfounded or excessive request).

Data subject requests made to Zendesk where Zendesk is a processor of the personal information

3.5 When Zendesk processes information on behalf of a Customer (for example, to provide a service), Zendesk is considered to be a processor of the information and the Customer will be primarily responsible for meeting the legal requirements as a controller. This means that when Zendesk acts as a processor, Zendesk's Customers retain the responsibility to comply with data subject rights requests.

3.6 Certain data protection obligations are passed to Zendesk in the contracts Zendesk has with its Customers and Zendesk must act in accordance with the instructions of its Customers and provide assistance to enable its Customers to comply with their duty to respect the rights of individuals, insofar as this is possible and taking account of the nature of the processing undertaken by Zendesk. This means that if any Group Member receives a data subject rights request in its capacity as a processor for a Customer that Group Member must transfer such request promptly to the relevant Customer and not respond to the request unless authorized by the Customer to do so.

4. Requests for access to personal data ("subject access requests")

4.1 An individual is entitled to make a request to a controller to require it to provide the following information concerning processing of their personal data:

(a) Confirmation as to whether the controller holds and is processing personal information about them;

(b) If so, a description of the personal information and categories of personal information concerned, the envisaged period for which the personal information will be stored, the purposes for which they are being held and processed and the recipients or classes of recipients to whom the information is, or may be, disclosed by the controller;

(c) Information about the individual's right to request rectification or erasure of their personal information or to restrict or object to its processing;

(d) Information about the individual's right to lodge a complaint with a competent data protection authority;

(e) Information about the source of the person information if it was not collected from the individual;
Details about whether the personal information is subject to automated decision-making which produces legal effects concerning the individual or similarly significantly affects them; and

Where personal information is transferred from Europe to a country outside of Europe, the appropriate safeguards that Zendesk has put in place relating to such transfers in accordance with European data protection laws.

An individual is also entitled to request a copy of their personal information from the controller. Where an individual makes such a request, the controller must provide that personal information to the individual in intelligible form.

5. Exemptions to the right of subject access for requests made to Zendesk as a controller

5.1 A valid subject access request may be refused on the following grounds:

(a) Where the subject access request is made to a European Group Member, if the refusal to provide the information is consistent with the data protection law within the jurisdiction in which that Group Member is located; or

(b) Where the subject access request is made to a non-European Group Member and the refusal to provide the information is consistent with the exemptions to the right of subject access under current EU data protection laws.

(c) Where the personal information is held by Zendesk in non-automated form that is not or will not become part of a filing system.

(d) Where the personal information does not originate from Europe, has not been processed by any European Group Member, and the provision of the personal information requires Zendesk to use disproportionate effort.

5.2 The Zendesk Privacy Council will assess each request individually to determine whether any of the above-mentioned exemptions applies.

6. Zendesk's search and the response

6.1 If Zendesk receives a subject access request, the Zendesk Privacy Council will arrange a search of all relevant electronic and paper filing systems.

6.2 The Zendesk Privacy Council may refer any complex cases to the Chief Privacy Officer for advice, particularly where the request includes information relating to third parties or where the release of personal information may prejudice commercial confidentiality or legal proceedings.

6.3 The information requested will be collated by the Zendesk Privacy Council into a readily understandable format (internal codes or identification numbers used at Zendesk that correspond to personal information shall be translated before being disclosed). A covering letter will be prepared by the Zendesk Privacy Council which includes information required to be provided in response to a subject access request.

7. Requests to correct, update or erase personal information, to restrict or cease processing personal information
7.1 If a request is received to correct, update or erase personal information, or to restrict or cease processing of an individual’s personal information where Zendesk is the controller for that personal information, such a request must be considered and dealt with as appropriate by the Zendesk Privacy Council.

7.2 If a request is received advising of a change in an individual’s personal information where Zendesk is the controller for that personal information, such information must be rectified or updated accordingly if Zendesk is satisfied that there is a legitimate basis for doing so.

7.3 When Zendesk deletes, anonymises, updates, or corrects personal information, either in its capacity as controller or on instruction of a Customer when it is acting as a processor, Zendesk will notify other Group Members or any sub-processor to whom the personal information has been disclosed accordingly so that they can also update their records.

7.4 If the request made to Zendesk as a controller is to restrict or cease processing that individual’s personal information (for example, because the rights and freedoms of the individual are prejudiced by virtue of such processing by Zendesk, or on the basis of other compelling legitimate grounds), the matter will be referred to the Zendesk Privacy Council to assess.

8. Right to data portability

8.1 If an individual makes a data subject request to Zendesk acting as controller to receive the personal information that they have provided to Zendesk in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and/or to transmit directly such information to another controller (where technically feasible), Zendesk’s Privacy Council will consider and deal with the request appropriately in accordance with applicable data protection laws insofar as the processing is based on that individual’s consent or on the performance of, or steps taken at the request of the individual prior to entry into, a contract.

9. Questions about this Procedure

9.1 All queries relating to this Procedure are to be addressed to the Zendesk Privacy Council or at privacy@zendesk.com.

Binding Corporate Rules:
Privacy Training Requirements
Binding Corporate Rules: Privacy Training Requirements

15. Background

15.1 The “Binding Corporate Rules: Controller Policy” and “Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy” (together the “Policies” or, respectively, the "Controller Policy" and the "Processor Policy") provide a framework for the transfer of personal information between Zendesk group members (“Group Members”). The purpose of the Privacy Training Requirements document is to provide a summary as to how Zendesk trains its employees and contractors on the requirements of the Policies.

15.2 Zendesk trains employees (including new hires and contractors, whose roles will bring them into contact with personal information) on the basic principles of data protection, confidentiality and information security awareness.

15.3 Employees who have permanent or regular access to personal information, who are involved in the collection of personal information or in the development of tools to process personal information receive additional, tailored training on the Policies and specific data protection issues relevant to their role. This training is further described below and is repeated on a regular basis.

16. Responsibility for the Privacy Training Programme

16.1 Zendesk’s Privacy Council has overall responsibility for privacy training at Zendesk, with input with colleagues from other functional areas including Information Security, PeopleOps (“HR”) and other departments, as appropriate. They will review training from time to time to ensure it addresses all relevant aspects of the Policies and that it is appropriate for individuals who have permanent or regular access to personal information, who are involved in the collection of personal information or in the development of tools to process personal information.

16.2 Zendesk Management supports the attendance of the privacy training courses, and are responsible for ensuring that individuals within the company are given appropriate time to attend and participate in such courses. Course attendance is monitored via regular audits of the training process. These audits are performed by the BCR Audit Team and/or independent third party auditors.

16.3 In the event that these audits reveal persistent non-attendance, this will be escalated to the Chief Privacy Officer for action. Such action may include escalation of non-attendance to the appropriate management authority within Zendesk who will be responsible and held accountable for ensuring that the individual(s) concerned attend and actively participates in such training.

17. About the training courses

17.1 Zendesk has developed mandatory electronic training courses, supplemented by face to face training for employees. The courses are designed to be both informative and use-friendly, generating interest in the topics covered. Employees must correctly answer a series of multiple choice questions for the course to be deemed complete.

17.2 All Zendesk employees will be required to complete the training:

(a) as part of their induction programme;

(b) as part of a regular refresher training at least once every two years (the timing of which is determined by the Zendesk Privacy Council); and when necessary based on changes in the law or to address any compliance issues arising from time to time.

17.3 Certain employees will receive specialist training, including those who are involved in particular processing activities such as employees who work in HR, Marketing, Product Development, Finance/Procurement and Customer Success or whose business activities include processing sensitive personal data. Specialist training is delivered as additional modules to the basic training package, which will be tailored depending on the course participants.

18. Training on the Policy

18.1 Zendesk's training on the Policies will cover the following main areas:

18.1.1 Background and rationale:
   (a) What is data protection law?
   (b) How data protection law will affect Zendesk internationally
   (c) The scope of the Policies
   (d) Terminology and concepts.

18.1.2 The Policies:
   (a) An explanation of the Policies
   (b) Practical examples
   (c) The rights that the Policies give to individuals
   (d) The privacy implications arising from processing personal information for clients

18.1.3 Where relevant to an employee's role, training will cover the following procedures under the Policies:
   (a) Subject Access Procedure
   (b) Audit Protocol
   (c) Updating Procedure
   (d) Cooperation Procedure
   (e) Complaint Handling Procedure

19. Further information

19.1 Any queries about training under the Policies should be addressed to Zendesk's Privacy Council at privacy@zendesk.com.
APPENDIX 5

AUDIT PROTOCOL
Binding Corporate Rules:
Audit Protocol
Binding Corporate Rules: Audit Protocol

20. Background

20.1 Zendesk’s “Binding Corporate Rules: Controller Policy” and “Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy” (together the “Policies” or, respectively, the "Controller Policy" and the "Processor Policy") safeguard personal information transferred between the Zendesk group members ("Group Members").

20.2 Zendesk must audit its compliance with the Policies on a regular basis, and the purpose of this document is to describe how and when Zendesk will perform such audits.

20.3 The role of Zendesk's Privacy Council is to provide guidance about the collection and use of personal information subject to the Policies and to assess the collection and use of personal information by Group Members for potential privacy-related risks. The collection and use of personal information with the potential for a significant privacy impact is, therefore, subject to detailed review and evaluation on an on-going basis. Accordingly, although this Audit Protocol describes the formal assessment process adopted by Zendesk to ensure compliance with the Policies as required by the data protection authorities, this is only one way in which Zendesk ensures that the provisions of the Policies are observed and corrective actions taken as required.

21. Approach

Overview of audit

21.1 Compliance with the Policies is overseen on a day-to-day basis by the Zendesk Privacy Council. The Zendesk BCR Audit Team composed of experienced representatives of Zendesk's Legal, Information Security and Compliance teams ("BCR Audit Team") is responsible for performing and/or overseeing independent audits of compliance with the Policies and will ensure that such audits address all aspects of the Policies. The BCR Audit Team is responsible for ensuring that any issues or instances of non-compliance are brought to the attention of the Zendesk Privacy Council and Chief Privacy Officer and that any corrective actions are determined and implemented within a reasonable time.

21.2 Where Zendesk acts as a processor, Customers (or auditors acting on their behalf) may audit Zendesk for compliance with the commitments made in the Processor Policy and may extend such audits to any sub-processors acting on Zendesk's behalf in respect of such processing, in accordance with the terms of the relevant Customer's contract with Zendesk.

Frequency of audit

21.3 Audits of compliance with the Policies are conducted:

(a) at least annually in accordance with Zendesk's audit procedures; and/or

(b) at the request of the Chief Privacy Officer; and/or

(c) as determined necessary by the Zendesk Privacy Council (for example, in response to a specific incident) and/or
(d) (with respect to audits of the Processor Policy), as required by the terms of the relevant Customer’s contract with Zendesk.

Scope of audit

21.4 The BCR Audit Team will conduct a risk-based analysis to determine the scope of an audit, which will consider relevant criteria, such as: areas of current regulatory focus; areas of specific or new risk for the business; areas with changes to the systems or processes used to safeguard information; areas where there have been previous audit findings or complaints; the period since the last review; and the nature and location of the personal information processed.

21.5 In the event that a Customer exercises its right to audit Zendesk for compliance with the Processor Policy, the scope of the audit shall be limited to the data processing facilities, data files and documentation relating to that Customer. Zendesk will not provide a Customer with access to systems which process personal information of other Customers.

Auditors

21.6 Audit of the Policies (including any related procedures and controls) will be undertaken by the BCR Audit Team. In addition, Zendesk may appoint independent and experienced professional auditors acting under a duty of confidence as necessary to perform audits of the Policies (including any related procedures and controls) relating to data privacy.

21.7 In the event that a Customer exercises its right to audit Zendesk for compliance with the Processor Policy, such audit may be undertaken by that Customer, or by independent and suitably experienced auditors selected by that Customer, as required by the terms of the relevant Customer’s contract with Zendesk.

21.8 In addition Zendesk agrees that European data protection authorities may audit Group Members for the purpose of reviewing compliance with the Policies (including any related procedures and controls) in accordance with the terms of the Binding Corporate Rules: Cooperation Procedure.

Reporting

21.9 Data privacy audit reports are submitted to the Chief Privacy Officer and, if the report reveals breaches or the potential for breaches of a serious nature (for example, presenting a risk of potential harm to individuals or to the business), to the parent Board of Directors.

21.10 Upon request and subject to applicable law and respect for the confidentiality and trade secrets of the information provided, Zendesk will:

(a) provide copies of the results of data privacy audits of the Policies (including any related procedures and controls) to a competent European data protection authority; and

(b) to the extent that an audit relates to personal information Zendesk processes on behalf of a Customer, report the results of any audit of compliance with the Processor Policy to that Customer.

21.11 The Zendesk Privacy Council is responsible for liaising with the European data protection authorities for the purpose of providing the information outlined in section 2.10.

COMPLAINT HANDLING PROCEDURE
Binding Corporate Rules: Complaint Handling Procedure
Binding Corporate Rules: Complaint Handling Procedure

2. Background

2.1 Zendesk’s "Binding Corporate Rules: Controller Policy" and "Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy" (together the "Policies" or, respectively, the "Controller Policy" and the "Processor Policy") safeguard personal information transferred between the Zendesk group members ("Group Members"). The purpose of this Complaint Handling Procedure is to explain how complaints brought by an individual whose personal information is processed by Zendesk under the Policies are dealt with.

2.2 This procedure will be made available to individuals whose personal information is processed by Zendesk under the Controller Policy and, where Zendesk processes personal information on behalf of Customers, to those Customers (under the Processor Policy).

3. How individuals can bring complaints

3.1 Individuals can bring complaints in writing by contacting the Zendesk Privacy Council at privacy@zendesk.com.

4. Complaints where Zendesk is a controller

Who handles complaints?

4.1 The Zendesk Privacy Council will handle all complaints arising under the Controller Policy. The Zendesk Privacy Council will liaise with colleagues from relevant business and support units as appropriate to deal the complaint.

5. What is the response time?

5.1 Unless exceptional circumstances apply, the Zendesk Privacy Council will acknowledge receipt of a complaint to the individual concerned within five (5) business days, investigating and making a substantive response within one month.

5.2 If, due to the complexity of the complaint, a substantive response cannot be given within this period, the Zendesk Privacy Council will advise the complainant accordingly and provide a reasonable estimate (not exceeding three (3) months) for the timescale within which a response will be provided.

What happens if a complainant disputes a finding?

5.3 If the complainant disputes the response from the Zendesk Privacy Council or any aspect of a finding and notifies the Zendesk Privacy Council, the matter will be referred to the Chief Privacy Officer. The Chief Privacy Officer will review the case and advise the complainant of his or her decision either to accept the original finding or to substitute a new finding. The Chief Privacy Officer will respond to the complainant within three (3) months of the receipt of the complaint. As part of the review, the Chief Privacy Officer may arrange to meet the parties to the complaint in an attempt to resolve it.

5.4 If the complaint is upheld, the Chief Privacy Officer will arrange for any necessary steps to be taken as a consequence.
5.5 Individuals also have the right to complain to a competent data protection authority and/or to lodge a claim with a court of competent jurisdiction in accordance with the data protection laws applicable to them, whether or not they have first complained directly to Zendesk.

5.6 The jurisdiction from which the personal information was transferred will determine to which data protection authority a complaint may be made.

5.7 If the matter relates to personal information which was collected and/or used by a Group Member in Europe but then transferred to a Group Member outside Europe and an individual wants to make a claim against Zendesk, the claim may be made against the Group Member in Europe responsible for exporting the personal information.

6. Complaints where Zendesk is a processor

6.1 Where a complaint is brought in respect of the collection and use of personal information where Zendesk is the processor in respect of that information, Zendesk will communicate the details of the complaint to the Customer promptly and will act strictly in accordance with the terms of the contract between the Customer and Zendesk if the Customer requires that Zendesk investigate the complaint.

What happens when a Customer ceases to exist?

6.2 In circumstances where a Zendesk Customer has disappeared, no longer exists or has become insolvent, and no successor entity has taken its place, individuals whose personal information is collected and/or used in accordance with European data protection law and transferred between Group Members on behalf of that Customer have the right to complain to Zendesk and Zendesk will handle such complaints in accordance with section 4 of this Complaint Handling Procedure.

6.3 In such cases, individuals also have the right to complain to a European data protection authority and/or to lodge a claim with a court of competent jurisdiction and this includes where they are not satisfied with the way in which their complaint has been resolved by Zendesk. Individuals entitled to such rights will be notified accordingly as part of the complaint handling procedure.
APPENDIX 7

2. Cooperation Procedure

2.1 Where required, Zendesk will make the necessary personnel available for dialogue with a European data protection authority in relation to the Policies.

2.5 Zendesk agrees to abide by a formal decision of any competent data protection authority against which a right to appeal is not exercised on any issues relating to the interpretation and application of the Policies.

Binding Corporate Rules: Updating Procedure
Binding Corporate Rules: Updating Procedure

22. Introduction

22.1 This Binding Corporate Rules: Updating Procedure sets out the way in which Zendesk will communicate changes to the "Binding Corporate Rules: Controller Policy" ("Controller Policy") and to the "Binding Corporate Rules: Processor Policy" ("Processor Policy") (together the "Policies") to the European\textsuperscript{4} data protection authorities, individual data subjects, its Customers and to the Zendesk group members ("Group Members") bound by the Policies.

22.2 Any reference to Zendesk in this procedure is to the Privacy Council which will ensure that the commitments made by Zendesk in this Updating Procedure are met.

23. Material changes to the Policies

23.1 Zendesk will communicate any material changes to the Policies as soon as is reasonably practical to the Data Protection Commissioner in Ireland and to any other relevant European data protection authorities.

23.2 Where a change to the Processor Policy materially affects the conditions under which Zendesk processes personal information on behalf of any Customer under the terms of its contract with Zendesk, Zendesk will also communicate such information to any affected Customer. If such change is contrary to any term of the contract between Zendesk and that Customer:

(a) Zendesk will communicate the proposed change before it is implemented, and with sufficient notice to enable affected Customers to object; and

(b) Zendesk's Customer may then suspend the transfer of personal information to Zendesk and/or terminate the contract, in accordance with the terms of its contract with Zendesk.

24. Administrative changes to the Policies

24.1 Zendesk will communicate changes to the Policies which:

(c) are administrative in nature (including changes in the list of Group Members); or

(d) have occurred as a result of either a change of applicable data protection law in any European country or due to any legislative, court or supervisory authority measure; to the Data Protection Commissioner in Ireland and to any other relevant European data protection authorities at least once a year. Zendesk will also provide a brief explanation to the Data Protection Commissioner in Ireland and to any other relevant data protection authorities of the reasons for any notified changes to the Policies.

\textsuperscript{4} References to Europe for the purposes of this document includes the EEA and Switzerland
1.2 In addition, Zendesk will make available changes to the Processor Policy which:

(a) are administrative in nature (including changes in the list of Group Members); or

(b) have occurred as a result of a change of applicable data protection law in any European country or due to any legislative, court or supervisory authority measure; to any Customer on whose behalf Zendesk processes personal information.

25. Communicating changes to the Policies

25.1 Zendesk will communicate all changes to the Policies, whether administrative or material in nature:

(a) to the Group Members bound by the Policies via written notice (which may include e-mail); and

(b) systematically to Customers and individuals who benefit from the Policies via www.zendesk.com.

25.2 Zendesk will maintain an up to date list of Group Members bound by the Policies and of the sub-processors appointed by Zendesk to process personal information on behalf of Customers. This information will be available on request from Zendesk.

26. Logging changes to the Policies

26.1 The Policies contain a change log which sets out the date each Policy is revised and the details of any revisions made. Zendesk will maintain an up-to-date list of the changes made to the Policies.

27. New Group Members

27.1 Zendesk will ensure that all new Group Members are bound by the Policies before a transfer of personal information to them takes place.
